Build a Stadium in the City

A world class stadium located at Acton Waterfront will provide enormous social, cultural and economic benefits to the ACT and help drive foot traffic to surrounding restaurants, bars and hotels.

The Canberra Liberals will begin construction in the first term of government of a proposed 30,000 seat stadium with a roof to ensure that it can accommodate events year-round.

City stadiums have demonstrated across Australia that they provide a significant boost to tourism, create local jobs, generate private investment, and enhance the vibrancy of a CBD.

It is clear the Labor-Greens government has no interest in building a new stadium and Andrew Barr has strung Canberrans along for over a decade with broken promises and multiple feasibility studies.

It is now abundantly clear that the Canberra Liberals are the only party that will build a new stadium for our city.

A modern stadium can incorporate sustainable design and operations, reducing its carbon footprint and showcasing Canberra's commitment to environmental stewardship.

The Canberra Liberals have always been committed to building infrastructure projects that have the most economic, cultural, and social benefit for Canberrans.

A new stadium at Acton Waterfront will integrate with Stage 2A of Light Rail, the bus network, active travel including pedestrian networks through the city enhancing the overall efficiency and accessibility of the city.

A new stadium located in the city will signal to the rest of Australia and the world that Canberra is open for business, and open to host world-class events.
